Numb. 8975.

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday July 28, to Tuesday July 31, 1750.

Conſtantinople, June 22.

WHILST the Grand Signior was viſiting the Serrail of the Ichouglans or Pages, M. De Salleurs took the Opportunity to ſend a Preſent to the Kiſlar Aga, of Sweet-meats, a Gold Snuff-box, and a Caſe of Mathematical Inſtruments ſet with Diamonds. Zayde Efendi the late Cheaia is arrived here, and has been at the Porte; there is no Talk as yet of his coming into Poſt. There is Advice from Baſſora received at Aleppo, that Shawrooke, Schach of Perſia, was dethroned, and one Solyman Doub, who married a Siſter of Schach Thamas's, ſucceeds him; as he is a Man of Reſolution, it gives them Hope that the Affairs of that Kingdom will remain in a quiet Situation.

Petersbourg, July 14. Her Imperial Majeſty finding herſelf pretty much out of Order, was let Blood on Tueſday laſt, ſince which ſhe is much better. On the 10th Inſtant the Grand Duke's Name Day was celebrated at Peterſhoff with great Solemnity; on this Occaſion all the Foreign Miniſters and divers other Perſons of Diſtinction were invited to a magnificent Entertainment, which ended with a Ball at Night. The Count de Lynar, Envoy Extraordinary to the King of Denmark, will have his Audience of Leave of the Empreſs next Week, and 'tis expected will ſoon after leave this Court on his Return to Denmark.

Rome, July 18. Cardinal Valenti, Secretary of State, received a few Days ago, an Expreſs diſpatched by the Pope's Nuncio at Venice, with Advice, that he had received Orders from the Senate to depart that City within the Space of Five Days, and the Territories of the Republick in Ten Days. This Expreſs was followed by another to the Venetian Ambaſſador, ordering him immediately to return Home, without taking his Leave of this Court; upon which his Excellency has taken down the Arms of the Republick from the Gate of his Hotel, and 'tis believed will ſet out this Night. All which is occaſioned by the Pope's late Deciſion of the Affair of the Patriarch of Aquila.

Vienna, July 22. On Monday laſt a grand Council was held at Schonbrun, after which their Imperial Majeſties went to Hetzendorff to viſit the Empreſs Dowager; and Yeſterday their Imperial Majeſties, accompanied by Prince Charles of Lorrain, ſet out for Mannerſtorff, in order to ſpend ſome Days with the Counteſs de Fucks. They write from Prague, that the Troops deſtined to form the Camps in Bohemia were all in Motion, and would be aſſembled by the 1ſt of next Month. The Prince Campo Reale, Ambaſſador from the King of the Two Sicilies, is expected here next Week; after whoſe Arrival the Prince of Eſterhaſi is to ſet out with the ſame Character to the Court of Naples.

Stockholm, July 24. On the 18th Inſtant, in the Evening, an Expreſs arrived here from Drottningholm, with the agreeable News of the Princeſs Royal's being brought to Bed of a Prince, which was ſoon after proclaimed to the People by a triple Diſcharge of 256 Pieces of Cannon; and great Rejoycings were made throughout the whole City. The next Day, publick Thankſgivings were made in all the Churches for this happy Event. The King was no ſooner informed of the Princeſs's ſafe Delivery, than he ſent M. Inſenſtiern, one of his Chamberlains, to compliment their Royal Highneſſes in his Name; and on the 22d the young Prince was baptized, in the Chapel of Drottningholm, in the Preſence of his Majeſty, the Prince Succeſſor his Father, and ſeveral Lords of the Court, by the Archbiſhop, and was named Frederick-Adolphus. The Diſtemper amongſt the Horned Cattle continuing to rage very much in divers Parts of this Kingdom, an Edict has been lately publiſhed, by Order of the King and Senate, forbidding, under the moſt ſevere Penalties, all Perſons whatſoever from bringing any Horned Cattle into this City from any Places infected with the ſaid Diſtemper.

Copenhagen, July 25. A few Days ago the King and Queen, accompanied by Princeſs Amelia, went to Friedericksbourg to viſit the Queen Mother, and at Night returned to Friedensbourg. On the 22d ſailed from hence 16 large Shallops, in order to cruize along the Coaſt of Terbek, three Leagues from hence, to exerciſe the Seamen.

Turin, July 25. The King of Sardinia continues ſtill at the Baths of Vaudier; and by the laſt Letters from that Place we are informed, that though the Waters did not agree with his Majeſty at firſt, at preſent he receives great Benefit from them.

Berlin, July 28. Muſtapha Aga, Colonel in the Service of the Ottoman Porte, and Secretary to the Great Chan of Crim Tartary and to Sultan Chan his Brother, arrived here on Tueſday laſt. The King was no ſooner informed of his Arrival, than he ordered his Expences to be defrayed during his Stay at this Court; and Yeſterday his Majeſty came hither from Potzdam, when Muſtapha Aga was admitted to an Audience, and delivered his Credential Letters.

Franckfort,

[Price Two-pence.]

Franckfort, July 28. The States of the Circle of the Upper Rhine continue their Aſſembly in this City, but it is expected they will ſeparate in about ten Days. The Weather has been for ſome Time ſo exceſſive hot in theſe Parts, that it was almoſt inſupportable; and though the frequent Storms we have had for theſe two or three Days paſt have ſomewhat cooled the Air, yet the Corn and Fruits have ſuffered greatly thereby.

Hague, Aug. 4. The Prince Stadtholder was on Friday laſt at the Council of State; after which his Serene Highneſs was in Conference with the Deputies of that College and of the States General, and then was preſent at the Aſſembly of the States of Holland, who ſeparated on Saturday laſt, and are not to re-aſſemble till they are ſummoned. M. Preys, the Swediſh Envoy, was on Saturday in Conference with the Preſident of the Week, to whom he delivered a Letter from the King of Sweden, notifying to their High Mightineſſes the Birth of the Prince, of whom the Princeſs Royal of Sweden was lately delivered.

Paris, Aug. 5. The Parliament of Paris having deputed, four Days ago, the uſual Members of their Body to go to Verſailles, and to preſent their Remonſtrances to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty upon the Tax of the hundredth Penny; the King, in Reply to their humble Repreſentations, told them, he did not want to be reminded of any Occaſion to eaſe his People of a Burthen; that he had determined to take off the hundredth Penny on the 1ſt of January next, and he promiſed them that it ſhould be done. His Majeſty at the ſame Time reminded them, that, within the Space of a few Years, he had eaſed his People of above Thirty Millions; and that, whenever the Neceſſity of his Affairs would admit of it, he would give them further Proofs of his Affection; but that, in the preſent Circumſtances, he could not think of it; and as it was neceſſary that the Country People ſhould be eaſed as much as poſſible, he expected that his Parliament would without Delay regiſter the Tax of two Pence per Livre above the uſual Taxes, for five Years longer, by which Time he hoped he might do ſomething further for them. In Conſequence of this Demand of the Court, the King's Council and Advocates were Yeſterday at Verſailles, to make their Report of the Parliament's having conformed themſelves to his Majeſty's Pleaſure. Notwithſtanding the Notion that prevailed in this Town, that the Government would not think fit to execute any of the Rioters who were concerned in the Diſturbances in this Capital, upon the Suppoſition that the Police had Orders to take up young Children for the Colonies, three of theſe unfortunate People were executed on the Place de Greve on Monday laſt, and every thing paſſed very quietly on the Occaſion; it was thought prudent however, for Fear of Accidents, to ſurround the Place of Execution with Detachments of Foot Guards, and the main Body of them were aſſembled under Pretence of exerciſing them, in order to be prepared for the worſt that could happen. This Precaution was thought the more neceſſary, as Murmurings were heard in the Streets the Evening before, which ſeemed to tend to a Riſing; but the Force that attended this neceſſary Act of Severity, effectually prevented any Attempts to a Reſcue. One of the young Men that were executed, Son to a Tradeſman here, both at his Tryal, and at the Place of Execution, behaved in a very enthuſiaſtick Way, owned and gloried in what he had done; declared he would do it again, if he ſaw the ſame Reaſons; and that he ſuffered with great Satisfaction, ſince he looked upon himſelf as dying a Martyr for his Country. It is ſaid the Judges had a great Inclination to ſave him, but his Behaviour rendered it impoſſible.

Whitehall, July 31.

LES MOEURS; or, MANNERS.

Accurately Translated from the French. Wherein the Principles of Morality, or Social Duties, viz. Piety, Wisdom, Prudence, Fortitude, Justice, Temperance, Love, Friendship, Humanity, &c. &c. are described in all their Branches; the Obligations of them shown to consist in our Nature, and the Enlargement of them strongly enforc'd. Here Parents are taught, that, giving Birth to a Child, scarcely entitles them to that honourable Name, without a strict Discharge of Parental Duties; the Friend will find, there are a Thousand other Decorums, besides the doing of a Favour, to entitle him to the tender Name of Friend; and the Good natur'd Man will find, he ought to extend that Quality beyond the Bounds of his own Neighbourhood or Party.

The Whole wrote in a Manner entirely New and Entertaining, and enliven'd with real Characters, drawn from Life, and fitted to instill the Principles of all social Virtues into tender Minds.
